

Jennifer "Jen" L. Thompson, CCR, CVR-M

I have been in the legal industry since 1987, where I began my career as a paralegal. I went on to become a court reporter in 1993. With voice writing schools being few and the need being great, I co-founded the first voice writing court reporting school in South Carolina in 2000. For close to three decades, I have served the profession as a court reporting firm owner, court reporting instructor, and freelance court reporter. I am a Certified Verbatim Reporter Master with the National Verbatim Reporters Association, as well as a Certified Court Reporter with the state of Georgia. I have served in numerous leadership capacities, including President of the SC Court Reporters Association, and I'm a long-standing member of NVRA, SCCRA, and GCRA. Known as one of the court reporting industry experts and leaders in voice recognition, I conduct private training as well as online webinars and programs. I'm a certified advanced EclipseVox™ trainer and frequently speak and present at technology seminars and association conferences.

Eclipse Seminar/Conference/Trainees include:

Advantage Software
Eclipse Software Professionals
South Carolina Court Reporters Association
North Carolina Court Reporters Association
Georgia Court Reporters Association
Arkansas Court Reporters
Court Reporting School of South Carolina
The Vox Academy
United States Army
United States Air Force
United States Marine Corps
United States Coast Guard